PROGRAM

8:00 AM Welcoming Remarks and Program Introduction

8:15 AM The Critical Role of Proper Claims Handling

This presentation will consist of actual claims adjusters acting as witnesses in a mock deposition and cross-examined by volunteer attorneys. Cross-examination will be presented in different styles—aggressive, misleading, etc.—and the moderator will periodically “pause” the mock deposition to provide insights and explanations on how certain questions are answered. The goal of the presentation, which will be based on coverage issues in a first-party property claim, is to highlight the importance of proper claims handling, including clear and timely communication, appropriate investigation, and proper maintenance of files and claim notes.

9:15 AM Technological Advancements in Accident Reconstruction

This presentation will include an exciting guest presenter, Stephen Panoff from Young & Associates, an accident reconstruction engineer and expert. Learn about updates in technological advancements in accident reconstruction, including event data recorders, 3D laser scanning, drone technology, and virtual reality. Also hear how these developments have impacted the litigation landscape in areas such as evidence quality and jury perception.

JUNE 18, 2025
PROGRAM

10:30 AM Proactive Evaluation of Pre-Litigation Claims

This presentation will focus on three types of claims—sexual molestation, UIM, and construction-related bodily injuries—and provide insights from attorneys on key steps that should be taken right away to obtain an early valuation and develop a plan of action for the claim. The panelists will provide specific tasks and recommendations unique to each type of claim that can help drive strategic decision-making and assessment.

11:30 AM The Critical Role of Jury Consultants and Focus Groups

This presentation will be led by renowned jury consultant Jennifer Cuculich, JD. She will moderate a focus group comprised of claims adjusters who will evaluate a fact pattern. Ms. Cuculich will share her insights gained from the focus group and offer strategic advice on how focus groups and jury consultants can help facilitate better outcomes.
