PROGRAM

E-I-AI-O! – Artificial Intelligence in Claims and Litigation

This panel will explore the transformative role of AI in claims and litigation. Panelists will discuss how AI is reshaping the legal landscape, improving efficiency, and empowering legal and insurance professionals while addressing ethical considerations and future legal implications.

Moderators: Yelena Graves, Esq., Strongin Rothman & Abrams
Matthew Schrader, Esq., Reminger Co., LPA

When Social Media “Hurts” – Recent Decisions in Employment Law Dealing with First Amendment Rights and Social Media Posts

A discussion of current trends in employment litigation and discipline leading to discipline in light of the recent Supreme Court decisions related to free speech and social media posts. Examining employer liability for termination and discipline in response to employee statements, posts, and conduct along with expanded protections for speech and demonstrations of religious belief by employees.

Moderators: Brian Leinhauser, Esq., MacMain Leinhauser
Dan Ripper, Esq., Luther-Anderson PLLP

Whether you play D or O, the playing field is shifting so don't get left behind.

AI is everywhere in the media. It is no longer something that only your children and grandchildren need to understand. AI is creating new causes of action and different exposures that did not exist just a few years ago in the D&O space. The panel will discuss how AI is changing the playing field and creating new and different exposures for officers and directors and for those that insure them.

Moderators: Paul Finamore, Esq., Pessin Katz Law, P.A.
Jeremy Hawk, Esq., Taylor Wellons Politz Duhe

Levelling the Playing Field and Defending Against the “Philly Special” – Effective use of jury consultants and focus groups to prevent trick plays and nuclear verdicts

“Safetyism” and “reptile-theory” tactics have been part of the plaintiffs’ bar playbook for several years. When used effectively, these techniques may result in unexpected trial outcomes or even worse, nuclear verdicts. Panelists will discuss the importance of early identification and communication of problematic facts for establishing and managing reserves and the use of jury consultants and focus groups to properly evaluate defense themes and damages.

Moderators: Jason Campbell, Esq., Gill Ragon Owen
William McKenzie, Esq., McKenzie PLLC
